INTRODUCTION

This Curriculum Handbook is designed to give you an overview of important information about your studies at the Dutch National Opera Academy (DNOA). In addition to the curriculum overview and programme objectives, you can read about the learning goals (objectives) of each of the courses and the criteria by which each of them will be assessed. This handbook also incorporates information about the grading scales and the DNOA-addendum to the Education and Examination Regulations (EER) of both institutes.

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE DNOA

A partnership of the Conservatorium van Amsterdam and the Royal Conservatoire The Hague, the Dutch National Opera Academy is a two-year's master's programme offering a wide-ranging curriculum encompassing all aspects in the training of an aspiring opera artist. In addition to a focus on refining technical skills, students are supported in developing a very clear sense of vocal and artistic identity, and how these attributes can best be united to meet market demands and expectations. The programme is tailored to enable young artists to enhance chances of success in a competitive field as they transition from full-time education to the workplace. DNOA graduates can be found in many of the world's leading opera houses. The programme mounts several full-scale productions each season and enjoys close ties with the wider world of opera. The programme issues a Master of Music degree.

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

In addition to several fully staged productions each year, the DNOA programme maintains a careful balance between individual lessons and group classes that take place over two semesters (September – December and January – August). While the DNOA schedule varies from week to week (occasionally including activities at weekends), education generally takes place Monday – Friday with a focus on one-to-one lessons in the mornings and group classes/ rehearsals in the afternoon/ early evening.

Voice lessons and individual coaching sessions are offered during 34 weeks of the academic year. In addition to working with the DNOA faculty, students engage with a wide range of well-established and respected specialists from the international opera scene, including conductors, directors, vocal coaches, and agents as well as people from the field of cultural management and performance psychology. DNOA productions, workshops and seminars provide practical and beneficial ways to establish and build professional networks within the world of opera and beyond.

The programme issues a Master of Music degree, with the main subject being the integrated domain Performing Opera.

The DNOA board consists of Lies Colman (Royal Conservatoire ,The Hague); and Okke Westdorp (Conservatorium van Amsterdam).

THE CURRICULUM

The DNOA curriculum focuses on four specific areas of development:

- vocal/musical skills
- performance skills
- performing opera (main subject)
- reflective and career skills

The total study load of the programme is 120 ECTS.

MONITORING AND ASSESSMENT

Constructive dialogue between the respective teachers and students plays an important place in the monitoring and assessment of your development during your time at the DNOA.

Along with regular informal evaluation by the artistic leader and other teachers, formal assessment at the DNOA takes place in two ways:

- the assessment of your performance during the opera production by a commission of examiners, including DNOA faculty and external experts. This assessment will lead to a mark, 1–10 (including 0.5).
- the evaluation of your progression during the semester regarding the individual courses by the respective teachers. This takes place during the semester evaluation.

Feedback is subsequently given in individual sessions led by the Artistic Leader and one or more members of the faculty. Students may also access written reports in their respective dossiers which are administered by the student administration in each conservatoire. Regular consultation of the dossiers is highly recommended.

ATTENDANCE

An attendance level of at least 80% is a prerequisite for assessment, extenuating circumstances aside.

STUDENT PANELS & MEETINGS

Dialogue is central to the DNOA programme and students are encouraged to participate in informal monthly meetings as well as more formal "Student Panels" with the aim of discussing issues encountered that are relevant for the entire group.

The Student Panels are overseen by the Quality Culture departments and chaired by the Artistic Leader. Students are invited to suggest topics for the agenda which is set in advance. Some agenda points are fixed. For example, social safety is currently on the agenda of every meeting. Minutes taken are anonymised and are shared with the students who were present during the panel before they are distributed to the board and faculty.

Furthermore, "Debriefing" sessions with the core faculty are scheduled after the main productions.

Students can give feedback on their study programme in other ways, for example by participating in the National Student Survey (NSE).

All the above are effective and constructive ways to facilitate and contribute to the continuous development of the DNOA programme.

PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES

The intended learning outcomes describe the minimum requirements that you need to meet in order to obtain a Master of Music degree with specialization Opera. The intended learning outcomes are based on the National Framework Music (2017) of the Netwerk Muziek and are divided in six areas of competencies:

- technical skills
- creative skills
- contextual skills
- research and development skills
- communication skills
- organisational skills

Where necessary the programme objectives of the National Framework Music have been adapted to match the DNOA programme. The following table indicates what courses in the DNOA programme contribute to the six areas of competencies.

MASTER RESEARCH

Course content:	Research in DNOA's programme centres on completing a research project within a chosen area that has relevance to your practice as an opera singer. In the first semester a range of different types of research will be discussed, offering you the opportunity to discover which form of research is most suitable for you. The DNOA offers two paths to conduct your Master research: 1. Artistic research While the notion of artistic research is relatively new, it has become a common way to conduct research in the arts. What sets it apart from other types of research is that the creative process is integral to the research and the resulting artistic work forms the central part of the research output. At the DNOA, we encourage students to engage in artistic research. This research path allows you to explore a topic closely related to your musical practice, motivating you and enriching your studies. Although a creative activity is essential for artistic research, not every creative process counts as artistic research. The key difference is that while a creative process might be partly or mainly intuitive, artistic research requires critical awareness of the creative process. You should keep in mind the questions you wish to answer and use the creative process as a testing field. The research will thus lead to a meaningful discussion of the creative process, with findings and insights that go beyond the resulting artistic work. 2. Thesis research This research path aligns with an academic approach to research. In a musical context, it can involve, for example, a thoughtful discourse around a music-related subject, an investigation of a particular compositional practice, an exploration of the performance practice of a particular piece, or a study of methods for a specific instrument. A thesis research gives you the opportunity to explore a topic of personal significance, enriching your studies and contributing to your academic and musical growth. For further information please refer to DNOA Master Research Guide 2024/25.
Objectives:	At the end of this course, you will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • have acquired an understanding of the role research can play in a performance career; • be able to demonstrate skills of formulating a project proposal and abstract; • show an understanding of the use of source material and the skills required to document and present your research results; • have enhanced your artistic and professional understanding through the findings of your research;
Type of course:	Compulsory
Level:	Master I and II
Duration:	Four semesters

February 2025 – Due date final submission: handing in the research portfolio March – Preparing for research presentation 02. April 2025 – DNOA Research Symposium where you are required to give a 30-minute presentation of your research in English to the committee of examiners in front of an interested audience. The presentation during the Master Research Symposium is followed by questions from the committee of examiners and time permitting, members of the audience. You will be given the results of your research and presentation immediately following the deliberations of the committee.
Assessment:	Master I assessment criteria <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Consistency of the research process: setting goals, planning, realising - Quality and punctuality of the intermediate submissions - Communication with the research supervisor Based on these criteria, the progress you have made with your research in your first year will be graded with a 'pass' (if you are on the right track) or a 'fail' (if you are behind and not progressing). A 'fail' mainly functions as a warning and indicator; your progress can be re-assessed once you are back on track.

Assessment:	Master II assessment criteria Quality of the idea (15%) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Originality • Contribution to the field • Contribution to the student's practice Quality of the research process (25%) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Consistency of the research process: setting goals, planning, realising • Quality and punctuality of the intermediate submissions • Communication with the coordinator & advisor Quality of the portfolio (30%) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Quality of the research outcomes, in light of the original research goals • Quality of the written work including references and formatting Quality of the presentation (30%) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Quality of the preparation, time management and execution • Effective communication of research outcomes • Evidence of gained expertise as manifested in the presentation, including Question & Answer

ADDENDUM EDUCATION AND EXAMINATION REGULATIONS DNOA

To the Education and Examination Regulations (OER) 2024–2025 of the Conservatorium van Amsterdam and the Education and Examination Regulations (OER) 2024–2025 of the Royal Conservatoire for the joint Master of Music degree programme in Opera.

1. General

The boards of the Amsterdam University of the Arts and the University of the Arts The Hague, herewith represented by the directorates of the Conservatorium van Amsterdam and the Royal Conservatoire, attach this addendum to the Education and Examination Regulations (OER) of both conservatoires. The addendum is endorsed by the faculty counsels of both conservatories and concurs with article 7.13 of the Dutch law for higher education and scientific research. It concerns the content and form of the educational programme and tests for the Master of Music in Opera degree at Dutch National Opera Academy (DNOA). This DNOA Master programme is jointly offered by the Music Faculty of the Amsterdam University of the Arts (hereinafter Conservatorium van Amsterdam) and the Royal Conservatoire of the University of the Arts The Hague.

The general provisions, including the enactment and the date of coming into operation of the Education and Examination Regulations of both conservatoires, apply fully to the DNOA. The purpose of this addendum is to synchronise the DNOA programme and its student assessments with the regulations of both conservatoires.

2. Programme

The DNOA is a two-year programme delivered over four semesters. The academic year is divided in two semesters (September–January and February–August) during which periods of group lessons alternate with rehearsals and performances. Voice lessons and individual coaching sessions continue throughout thirty-four weeks of the academic year. The programme is presented each year in the curriculum handbook, including course descriptions, learning outcomes, assessment and criteria, and number of credits.

3. Auditions

Audition requirements for enrolment at DNOA are specified on the DNOA website. A successful audition for DNOA means that a student has demonstrated sufficient qualities to be able to attain the final qualifications.

4. Sequence of Tests

A prerequisite for admission to a test is that all previous tests in said subject or academic year have been successfully passed, unless the course specifically allows exception to this prerequisite.

5. Tests and Resits

5.1 If a student fails the initial practical test, they will be offered the opportunity to take a reassessment in a similar or alternative form, as soon as viable, ideally within the same academic year. In the case of a failed or omitted opera production, the reassessment can be a staged recital (duration 35 – 40 minutes, repertoire and content to be decided in agreement with the Artistic Leader).

5.2 Students can enrol a maximum of two times for each course of the programme. If still not completed, the onus is with the student to ensure they prepare independently for a further assessment in the requisite course. The terms of this assessment are to be agreed in negotiation with the Artistic Leader and the DNOA board. successfully, students must consult DNOA's Artistic Leader on how to prepare for the exam on their own.

6. Types of Assessment

6.1 The DNOA has various types of tests incorporating continuous assessment, written submissions and practical performances.

6.2 Practical tests are generally open to the general public, unless determined otherwise in special cases by the Artistic Leader in consultation with the Board.

7. Test Results

7.1 At the end of each semester the integral development of a student is discussed at a plenary semester evaluation. During this meeting the student's overall development during the past semester is evaluated.

7.2 At the conclusion of the semester evaluation, DNOA's Artistic Leader meets with each student to relay the evaluation. This is followed by a written report concerning the student's study progress.

7.3 Twice a year DNOA's Artistic Leader is responsible for relaying student evaluations to the administration of the appropriate conservatoire.

8. Overview of roles

Together with the diploma, the student receives a supplement stating the titles of the productions and names of roles that the student has participated in as part of the course, including the grade for the respective credit-bearing roles.

9. Cum laude

DNOA students are eligible for the designation 'cum laude' if they meet all of the following criteria:

1. was awarded an average grade of at least 9.0 in the assessed Opera Productions;
2. was awarded a grade of at least 8.0 in the assessment of the final Master Research;
3. passed all components of the programme at the first attempt;
4. has been enrolled for the Master's programme for a maximum of two academic years;
5. the Exam Committee has never established fraud by the student. Whether the student has met all the requirements is determined retrospectively by the student administration office. The designation 'cum laude' is recorded in an attachment to the certificate.
